

Draft of Civic Coalition Revolutionary Youth (2011)

<http://yat.mostakela.org/master99/story12709.htm>

Document draft of Civic Coalition Revolutionary Youth

Vision:

This coalition aims at establishing a modern civil state that positively reacts with modernity on the basis of equal citizenship, human rights, social justice, political pluralism, freedom of expression and opinion and peaceful transition of power.

Overall Objectives:

This coalition has a general objective of overthrowing the regime [of Ali Abdullah Saleh] with all its corrupt components by means of peaceful civil efforts and building a modern democratic state.

Principles:

- 1 Neutral armed forces and security apparatuses.
- 2 United modern parliamentary state.
- 3 Democracy and freedom of expression.
- 4 Fair and free elections depending on relative list system.
- 5 Real separation between legislative, judiciary and executive authorities.
- 6 A total eradicating of terrorism and violence.
- 7 Protecting youth revolution against challenges facing its achievements and objectives that include democratic contents.

8 Recruiting competent, highly qualified persons, for higher authorities, who have nothing to do the former corrupt regime.

9 Adherence by the United Nations charters.

10 Guarantee full representation for women and cancelling all forms of discrimination that can hinder her participation or prevent from human rights get that embodied in constitution and national law.

11 Necessity of non-involvement in business regarding higher positions and knowing about properties of those officials in question prior to undertaking any job with a declaration of any information for public opinion.

Revolution general objectives:

1 Achieving comprehensive development, social justice in addition to creating actual solutions for poverty and unemployment, increasing levels of individual and national income, and making a higher standards of health service and better life.

2 Independent, free and multiple media means with freedom of expression, establishing syndicates and organizations on the basis of world standards and disseminating principles of freedom, democracy in social political awareness with an embodiment in actual behaviour.

3 Impartiality of state media means and objectivity of language and policy of these outlets.

4 Rehab of all governmental institutions especially educational bodies, besides reframing of school syllabuses in compliance with modern thought to make a foundation for a modern strong and democratic state.

5 Making an end to all pending files of political conflict to ensure a solution for all complaints according to principles of justice.

6 A special constitution for city of Aden as a free zone that is as qualified as Hong Kong, Dubai which gained world reputation, with suitable legislations.

Duties & goals of the interim phase:

1 Toppling [Ali Abdullah] Saleh's regime with its corrupt system, bringing to justice of its representatives who are involved in criminal acts, public finance looting and human rights violation.

- 2 Giving a priority to the issue of the south Yemen and finding a historical solution that is equal and satisfying the people of the south in addition to giving the two-part state, a form of unity and decentralization.
- 3 Giving a priority to the issue of Sa'ada [Houthi uprising] to get rid of its causes and its reconstruction.
- 4 Forming a temporary technocratic government.
- 5 Phrasing a new constitution for a modern civil state based on principle of separation between authorities, with full dependence of judiciary system, peaceful transfer of power and impartial armed and security forces. This constitution shall guarantee comprehensive development.
- 6 Return of all looted public money to treasury of the state.
- 7 Building a special prosecution to put an end to wrongdoings committed against people, regain their rights looted under the former despotic regime and compensating any loss.
- 8 Making a relative list-based electoral law, congruent to the modern state.
- 9 Forming the supreme election committee from impartial, qualified and competent members with no involvement in the former political conflicts.
- 10 Rebuilding republican and private guards as well as central security, first armoured brigade on clear national and scientific foundations and subjecting all these and all of armed forces and military units to a unified leadership under supervision of the ministry of defence, working in course of grounds of the new constitution.
- 11 Rebuilding of national and political security apparatuses and intelligence agency to merge all of them into a single national security apparatus that abide by the new constitution and subjected to monitoring of the parliament.
- 12 Review legislation of the national anti-corruption system to ensure an improved performance as well as independent and parliament-controlled system.
- 13 Bringing to justice of all involvements in killings, repressing of the peaceful revolution protests, the south movement and Sa'ada wars criminal perpetrators, with compensation of martyrs families for killings and injuries and remove of their harms.
- 14 Making the armed and security forces neutral and developing them in favour of constitutional duties, abidance by human rights and public freedom. Also rearrange of interior ministry to allow popular control of performance, and banning any apparatus that are considered unconstitutional or affiliated to bodies that are uncontrolled by the parliament.

15 Cancelling exceptional and military prosecution, and setting free of all political prisoners.

16 Dissolving of ministers of information, culture and of endowment to replace them with independent national boards members of which to be selected on the basis of impartiality, neutrality, competence and qualification.

17 Carrying out of fair and free local presidential and parliamentary elections.

18 Removing disagreement on articles on individual complaints filed at united nations apparatuses concerning human rights violations in all world treaties and agreements on which Yemen approved and signing new agreements, especially the international criminal court (The Rome Statute) as well as the agreement on protecting people against coercive disappearance.

Interim Phase Mechanisms:

The interim period will not exceed a year with the purpose of an organized and peaceful transfer of power besides combining efforts for building foundations of the prospective modern state based on democracy and law power and human rights obligations, which come through forming a national interim council to be represented by youth male and female, civil society, political powers and the private sector. The council shall undertake the following:

Specify an interim period starting from a constitutional declaration for revolution, on the basis of which goals, duties and mechanisms of the interim period shall be specified.

The national counsel shall elect a temporary board of nine civil members and has right to remove them. They have to be competent and trusty and shall not be affiliates of the former regime and period of the elected board shall not exceed a year, with one of them neither be a candidate in the subsequent presidential elections nor be a member in the no interim government. The duties of this counsel shall be as follows:

1 Inviting various national powers inside and outside of Yemen for a comprehensive dialogue to tackle the issue of the south and that of Sa'ada.

2 The chairing board shall assign an honest, experienced and agreed upon person to form competences (technocrat) to manage the state matters throughout interim.

3 Appointing, transferring, or military leaderships to ensure neutral armed forces as well as the revolution goals and principles.

4 Forming a committee of law experts and representatives of main civil society organizations concerned in rights and freedom defence to make a new constitution and an electoral law as an establishment for a new civilized state ruled by parliament. This constitution shall specify the state presidential term as four years and does not exceed two electoral terms.

5 Forming a supreme neutral and fair electoral committee and conducting transparent presidential and parliamentarian elections.

The youth revolution civil coalition declares continuation of the revolution till its objectives are fulfilled and the revolutionary youth coalition have joined freedom and change squires across the country and will not return home till their demands are met. They are determined on coining a change for better tomorrow and will sacrifice their lives to achieve the revolution objectives.